Event overview

March 19, 2026

6:00 pm to 7:30 pm

How can a restorative and strengths-based approach provide children and youth the skills to transform conflict, heal relationships and create stronger communities? Many youth end up in conflict with the law because they feel isolated, but programming like the North Shore Restorative Justice's Schools Initiative is a direct and preventative solution.

Learn about how restorative practices benefit youth on the North Shore with NSRJ's Restorative Schools Program Manager Lindy Pfeil.

Presented in partnership with Capilano University and North Shore Restorative Justice.

Registration is recommended, but drop-ins will be allowed if space permits. Questions? Email info@nvcl.ca or call 604-998-3450.
