Navigation and accessible spaces

Wheelchair access

The library's main entrance is wheelchair accessible.

Wheelchair access vehicles such as the HandyDART can drop customers off at the turnaround off Chesterfield Ave. at 14th St., or at the entrance in the alley between the library and Lonsdale Ave.

Public washrooms on the second and third floors can accommodate wheelchairs. The washroom on the first floor is accessible with a key. Please request the key at the Welcome Desk.

Most public computers are on counters that are within wheelchair height standards.

Parking

There is a parkade under the library, accessible off Chesterfield Ave. at 14th St. The cost is $1 per hour, plus a 25¢ fee. You can pay at one of the machines or with the Passport Parking app. The parkade zone is 70501. Vehicles left after hours risk being locked in or towed at the owner's expense. For quick visits, there are four 15-minute free parking spots at the east end of the parkade on level 1.

The parkade has an elevator that brings you to the outdoor Plaza level, close to the library's main entrance.

Parking is managed by the City of North Vancouver. If you have questions about the library parkade, please call 604-983-7305.

Sensory-friendly space

On Sundays from 9 to 10 a.m., the library's environment is modified by reducing the lighting levels and lowering noise to create a safe, calm and supportive environment for individuals with sensory sensitivities, including those who find bright, busy spaces overwhelming.

On Sundays from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m., the 1st-floor program room is set up as a sensory-friendly space, with low lighting, a white-noise machine and sensory-friendly tools and furniture for individuals who need a low-stimulation space to self-regulate. Please book the space at any staff desk or by calling 604-998-3450.
