Join us for this year's North Shore Writers Festival, an event that brings Canadian authors and readers together to celebrate Canadian literature!

Test your literary knowledge at the Friday night trivia contest, or hone your writing skills at the Creative Writing 101 workshop or the Lunchtime Writers' Cafe. If you're an avid reader, the festival also has a great lineup of author talks. You'll hear from some of Canada's best writers on topics ranging from memoir-writing to romance novels to Indigenous storytelling.

The festival is presented by City Library, North Vancouver District Public Library, and West Vancouver Memorial Library. Attendance is free but registration is required.

April 10 & 11 at City Library and North Vancouver City Hall.
